DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure should be carefully reviewed to ensure that any and all grammatical, idiomatic, and spelling or other minor errors are corrected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because it is identical to claim 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2875

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese reference 8-55,608.

The above Japanese reference discloses a light source comprising a discharge tube [10], a reflector [61/65] and a support member [22/23] formed of a heat insulating structure and spaced from the electrodes.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Miller (3,636,641).

Miller discloses a light source comprising a discharge tube [11], a reflector [26,27] and a support member [46,47] wherein the discharge tube is being formed of a partially heat insulating structure [41,36: note column 2].

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lu (5,291,379).

Lu discloses a light source comprising a discharge tube, a reflector [1, 11] made of resin [column 2, line 7] and a support member [2].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2875

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese reference 11-84,381 in view of Miller (3,636,341).

The Japanese reference discloses a discharge tube [13] and reflector [12] wherein a heat conduction member [17] is contacting a central portion of the discharge tube. The Japanese reference does not disclose support members arranged near the electrodes. Miller discloses a similar light device wherein support members arranged near the electrodes of the tube thus protecting the electrodes and spacing the tube apart from the reflector. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to place support members arranged near the electrodes as taught by Miller.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Prior art fails to show or suggest an apparatus comprising a light source device and light valve wherein the light source includes a discharge tube, a reflector, support members and a layer of insulating material arranged between the tube and the support member or the support member and the reflector.
